WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 28.—A sharp debate was precipitated in the Senate to-day when Mr. Rawlins called up his Senate-Other Notes.

to-day when Mr. Rawlins called up his resolution offered yesterday directing the Secretary of War to furnish the Senate the proceedings of a number of courtmartials in the Philippines.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Rawlins referred to the death of Father Augustin, and said he was murdered in cold blood. This aroused the ire of Mr. Beveridge, who demanded specifically to know who had committed the cold-blooded murder. Mr. Carmack entered the debate, and characterized the charge, which, he said, repeatedly had been made, that the Democrats were assailing the army as the "meanest and dirtiest" of any that had been made against that party.

Mr. Proctor defended Captain Cornelius

mr. Proctor defended Captain Cornelius Mr. Proctor defended Captain Cornelius Mr. Brownell, who had been mentioned in the Rawlins resolution as being responsible for Father Augustin's death. FALSE AND INFAMOUS.

Mr. Rawlins said he had not specifically charged any person with heving committed cold-blooded murder, but his statement was based on affidavits on file in the War Department.

"It is the old charge," said he "that we have called attention to tortures and thereby have been araigning the American army. It is a false and infamous charge, and I will cram it down the teeth of the men who have falsely given it utterance. I brand the statement as infamous, if not cowardly. It is simply an attempt to put me in a false position which I will not occupy."

"If that is the best explanation the Senator can give." remarked Mr. Beverdige, "for his remarkable language here. I think the best friend the Senator has would advise him to accept the alternative of silence."

Mr. Hoar interrupted and asked if it was fair to impute to anybody an attack upon the American army, when the government of the United States itself through its military authority has made such charges.

Mr. Carmack characterized the charge that Democrats were assiling the army as the "meanlest and dirtiest" of all that had been made "Jake Smith is no more the American army than the Senate, and not half as much as he thinks he is."

POLICY OF SUPPRESSION. POLICY OF SUPPRESSION.

Whoever made the charge, he said, consciously took a falsehood upon his lips when he spoke it. The Senate Committee on the Philippines has refused to investigate the facts of the murder of Father Augustin. There had been a policy of suppression, he asserted, and in the case of one witness, who, he sainhad testified falsely before the committee, he had been allowed to go unput in the case of one witness, who, he saimhad testified falsely before the committee, he had been allowed to go unpunished. He insisted that whatever action had been taken by the President and War Department had been because they were driven to it by the minority of the Senate, and that eve nihen no single fact was brought to light.

Replying, Mr. Beverldge said Mr. Carmack had made his charge because the investigation did not result as he (Carmack) had hoped it would.

Mr. Carmack, again reverting to the investigation by the Committee on the Phillippines, as to the conduct of the army in the Phillippines, said that it occupied but four days of seven hours each "aithough the Secretary of War with his usual loose and lavish universility, had said that it occupied five months."

Mr. Proctor defended Captain Cornelius Brownell, who is charged in the Rawlins resolution with being responsible for the death of Father Augustin, Mr. Proctor declared that Father Augustin was the

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

BOSTON, MASS., January 28.—Ex-Congressman Fitzgerald returned to-day from Washington and a conference with the Southern Democratic leaders, and announces that the Hon. Richard Oiney is the only logical Democratic Presidential candidate. He says, that Mr. Oiney can be nominated, and, if nominated, can be elected. This view is shared, he says, by Congressman Russell. of Alabama, the Democratic whip of the National House; Schators Bacon, of Georgia. Tallaterro, of Florida, and Clay, of Georgia. "Republicans fear Oiney's strength as a Presidential candidate," he said, "more than any other man whose name has been mentioned so far. It all depends upon New England. If Democrats here will organize and work for Oiney's nomination, we can get it."

The secret conference of Oiney, Cleveland, Whitney and E. M. Sheperd in New York last night is believed here to be regarding Oiney's candidacy.

THEY HAVE FOUND MANY NEW SUBJECTS

Additional Money to Come from Railroads and Insurance Companies, and Annual Franchise Tax is Proposed for First Time. Bill is to Be Pushed in General Assembly.

The general revenue bill which was re-eived from the printer yesterday is a columnous document, containing 168 clarks will have a great task giving it had first reading.

One of the most interesting of the many changes proposed is that which puts social clubs which keep liquor for their members on the same footing with bar-rooms, requiring them to pursue all the usual methods for obtaining liquor licenses.

bar-rooms, requiring them to pursue all the usual methods for obtaining, liquor licenses.

This section was not in the first draft of the bill, and when it was discussed yesterday afternoon the club people here at once begun to line in for battle.

WHAT IT PROVIDISS.

The new section of the bill on the subject reads as follows:

"Any corporation chartered and oraganized as a social club, which shall desire to keep on hand at their clubhouse or other place of meeting wines, ardent spirits, mait liquors, or any mixture thereof, sicoholic bitters or bitters containing alcohol, or fruits preserved in ardent spirits, mait liquors, or any mixture thereof, alcoholic bitters or bitters of such corporation, shall, put or before the thirtieth day of April in each year, pay to the treasurer of the county or corporation wherein the club-house or other place of meeting of such corporation is located, the license tax required of retail liquor dealers."

A bill was offered some time ago by Hon, John Whitehead, of Norfolk (by request), with the above end in view.

It was referred to the Finance Committee and may have suggested this new departure in the general tax measure. Chairman Boaz and his colleagues have realized from the start that they had to soek new fields for gathering revenue, in order to meet the ten cent cut made in State taxes by the Constitutional Convention. And so they went after many new subjects and laid their hands rather heavily upon some, it is thought. The subject of insurance is one that will have to come up with increased taxation. The license tax is fixed at $300, and there is a specific levy of one and one-half percentum per annum upon the gross receipts of the companies doing business in the State. In addition to this, the countier, cities and towns are allowed to lay local taxes and there are charter fees, etc., as heretofore.

The tax upon railway, telegraph and steamboat companies are raised, and there directions.

FRANCHISE TAX.

FRANCHISE TAX.

FRANCHISE TAX.

For the first time, there is to be levied an annual franchise tax, taking in the following corporations:

Every corporation, joint stock company or association, organized or formed under, by, or pursuant to law in this State, except railway, canal, insurance, banking and security companies, cemetery, rolligious and charitable associations, shall, in addition to the charter fee, tax on property and income or receipts and licenses tax, and the registration fee prescribed by law, pay into the treasury of the State on or before the first day of March of each and every year an annual State franchise tax to be assessed by the State Corporation Commission.

The reporting of the bill does not mean that it will pass in its present form. It will be considered by sections in the two Houses, and a great many amendments will likely be offered.

Some long sessions are in sight, and the consideration of the bill will require a great deal of time.

Chairman Boaz, however, hopes to get it through the House by the middle of February.
